BIG BUILDINGS TO GO UP

The Ocala Lumber & Supply company has the contract to supply the material for Dr. C. R. Tydings' new building that will be commenced at once. The building will be located on Exposition street between the one just being completed and the old blacksmith shop on the corner, and will occupy the entire space between the two less room enough on the corner, where the old blacksmith shop now stands, for a handsome two-story brick building, which will go up after the completion of the wooden building. The one to be built just now is to be in the shape of half an oblong square, or possibly better described as two two-story buildings 20x40 feet, placed 60 feet apart, and then joined by three two-story buildings 20x20, giving a frontage of 100 feet, a depth in the middle of 20 feet and at the ends 40 feet. All will be connected and yet the apartments overhead will be entirely separate, if desired. The ground floor will be devoted to stores, some of the smaller ones divided into little store rooms 10x20 feet, which are much in demand.

ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

Mr. Walter Yonge had the Metropolitan band meet at his new cottage last evening for practice, and during the evening served them fifth as a tempting banquet as one could wish to sit down to. The table was set in the hall, and took almost the entire length, and was covered with all manner of good things to eat, including oysters fried and stewed, two kinds of salad, and delicious fruit punch. After practicing till they had worked up a tremendous appetite, Mr. Yonge invited his brethren of the band, together with three or four outside guests, out to the hall, where they regaled themselves with the good things till they were almost too full to resume practice. Several short toasts were said, including a vote of thanks from the band and well wishes for Mr. Yonge and his future by Mr. Albert Gerig, the band's popular leader. The gentlemen inspected the cottage and were much pleased with its finish and arrangement, and thought that Mr. Yonge and the new mistress who is soon to take charge of the little home, should be very happy in so cozy a nest. Mr. Yonge's father, Mr. R. E. Yonge, Sr., came in just before breaking up and passed around a box of Mr. Peyser's famous Grand Royal cigars.

The music made by the band was a treat to the neighborhood, and those in hearing could only regret that the walls of the room confined the sweet strains instead of allowing them to float out on the evening air and delight the ears of all.

At 10:30 the boys adjourned, wishing Mr. Yonge many years of happiness and prosperity, and thanking him for his splendid treat and kind wishes for the band.

Miss Bessye Porter, after a pleasant visit to her mother and friends in Ocala, left yesterday to resume her duties at Brenau College, Gainesville, Georgia.

Barnett, pastor of the Methodist church, read the burial service and the little body was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery, McIver & MacKay conducting the funeral. The pretty little casket was covered with fragrant and beautiful flowers, a great many friends, and neighbors attended the service to lend the comfort of their presence to the young grief-stricken parents.

Mr. E. E. Dobbs and wife of St. Louis, will arrive in town in a few days and will keep house in the property owned by Mr. Dobbs' mother, Mrs. Messett, on North Magnolia street.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Halloween party given of the Epworth League last evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League, was a pronounced success, being largely attended by the young people who had a royal good time. The beautiful moonlight night was ideal for the occasion, and to add to the cheerfulness of the scene a huge bonfire was kept burning in the center of the lawn. Jack-o'-lanterns shown here and there, revealing features of the most grotesque character.

The guests came masked and by 8 o'clock the lawn presented a weird scene, with the many solemn visaged witches moving with stately tread around the blazing fire or strolling in groups along the sidewalks and up towards the public square, striking terror to the hearts of several who had forgotten the presence of Halloween season.

Next to the church stood a cozy booth, within which Miss Little Carlton, arrayed in the garb of a witch, revealed to the guests their past, present and future history. The trembling guest, having been admitted into Cudjo's cave, was shown a monkey sitting in a tree, and this represented the past; then the guest was shown the present, and before departure, each guest was handed a card upon which was written an appropriate stanza prophetic of the future history.

A tub of water with floating apples afforded much amusement to those who attempted to lift the apples from the tub with their teeth and without the use of their hands. Several apples were suspended by strings from the trees and the guests tried their skill in archery by shooting at them with bow and arrow. In this contest Mr. W. V. Wheeler was the most successful archer, which meant that Cupid's arrow had pierced his heart and that he would be the first of the contestants to wed.

In the midst of the lawn stood a real Indian wigwam, which looked quite picturesque in the moonlight and seated within the dimly-lighted tent was the Gypsy fortune teller, Esmeraldo, arrayed in appropriate costume. Many and striking were the stories of past, present and future fortune as related by this skilled fortune teller, who was none other than Miss Mary Bell. Seated near the bonfire Miss Mizelle delighted many of the guests with the revelations of palmistry.

The guests were then invited to a table in the lawn loaded with various fruits, and during the marshmallow roast which followed a huge circle was formed around the fire and the party was entertained with several short stories of a most thrilling nature related by Misses Mizelle, Carn, Foy, Phillips and Mr. Cordero.

Much of the success of the occasion is attributable to the energetic plans of the gifted vice president of the literary department of the Epworth League, Miss Louise Nixon, assisted by Miss Louie Barnett, Miss Mary Bell and the others whose names have already been mentioned.

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT

The remodeling of the city market progresses finely and the place will be ready for tenants in ten days. The work is one of the best of the many recent improvements in the city and will give Ocala a market that the citizens may be proud of, instead of an eye sore.

The old shed on the east side, formerly the front of the building, is gone and fine cement sidewalks have been laid on the east and south sides of the building with curbing. The entire interior has been ceiled and painted snow white. The floor is of solid earth filled cement with the proper slopes to the outside drains, where water is carried off to the well. Each stall opens into the common court or vestibule and each one is thoroughly screened from flies. Every stall has a back entrance, through which everything will come and go, except the packages which customers carry away with them, who are passed out through the little sliding doors.

There is a room in the rear where fish will be cleaned and other washing done. A toilet and lavatory will be provided in the extreme rear corner. The market will comprise the essentials of cleanliness, convenience and attractiveness.

One more thing should be done. The walk around the south side should be extended across the unsightly lot to Magnolia street so that persons can come to the market from that side of town without having to walk down the middle of the narrow street, which has high weeds on both sides.

Mr. E. C. McLeod says that Clark Ray & Johnson are planning to build a mill here and sell all the refuse lumber at the mill, which they now have to burn up, to our people. Mr. says it will be a big thing for Ocala as it will make several hundred laborers directly tributary to Ocala; that the Summer Lumber Company of Zuber will push their railroad to Standard and then east to Salt Lake and St. George and there create a direct road connection with water transportation and help to build up Ocala. He says its coming sure and to give these enterprises all the aid possible and let the Florida canal rest for a while.

Mr. Fred Lovell, the Sanford druggist, who is a visitor in Ocala, speaking of the progress of Sanford, said it was wonderful; that land which in a few years had risen from $25 and $50 an acre to thousands, and this season's celery crop, for which the lands are famous, will produce in excess of last year's crop 3,000 cars, which will require twenty-five extra locomotives to move the same to market. Now there is nothing slow about Sanford and its vegetable kingdom.

Mrs. Will Goin and her sister, Miss Eloise Smoak, returned today from Umatilla, where they were the guests of Mrs. Robert Collins. Mrs. J. J. Williams, of Homosassa, who was there visiting relatives, returned to Ocala on the same train.

There is no game law against any one hunting for PLANK'S CHILL TONIC. It's guaranteed to cure malaria, chills and fever. Price 25 cents per bottle. Ask your dealer; he'll probably know.

Miss Grace Tohian, of Leesburg, passed through Ocala today as a bride. We could not learn the groom's name. Miss Grace formerly lived in Ocala, when her father was on the police force of this city.
